DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's arguments (paper no. 6, filed 4/21/2004) with respect to claims 1, 4, 14 and 17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant amends (paper no. 6, filed 4/21/2004) claims 1 – 4, 6 – 7, 11 – 12, 14, 17, 19, 22 – 23 and added new claims 24 – 35.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 - 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fimoff (US 6,665,344).

Regarding claims 1 and 24, Fimoff '344 discloses "an apparatus for receiving Digital Motion Pictures" (i.e. fig. 1), comprising: "a video bit stream extracting means for separating and extracting an interlaced scanning sequence video bit stream from a signal" (i.e. fig. 10), and "a video display processor for carrying out down conversion by converting the extracted video bit stream to a field DCT coded block if the extracted video bit stream corresponds to a frame DCT coded block " (i.e. fig. 10, module 102 and 110, abstract, col. 1, lines 5 – 10).

Regarding claims 4 and 17, Fimoff '344 discloses, "a video decoding device in which input video bit streams are restored into pixel values of an original screen by inverse quantization IQ after variable length decoding VLD, inverse discrete cosine conversion IDCT, and motion compensation MC" (i.e. fig. 2, decoder 32, IQ 36, IDCT 38 and MC 34), and "a down-sampling IDCT part for carrying out 4x4 inverse discrete cosine transform IDCT after DCT coefficients of high frequency components in horizontal/vertical directions" (i.e. fig. 3, 56, fig. 17, 304, 312 and figs. 4 – 6), and "a memory for storing" (i.e. fig. 2, memory 42), and "an up-sampling part for carrying out up-sampling of a reference picture" (i.e. fig. 3, up sampler 64), and "a motion compensation part" (i.e. fig. 3, MC 62) and "a down-sampling part" (i.e. fig. 3, down sampler 66), and "a video display processor for reading the data stored in the memory according to a display mode" (i.e. cols. 8 - 9, lines 63 - 5).

Regarding claims 2 – 3, the limitations claimed are substantially similar to claim 4, therefore the grounds for rejecting claim 4 also apply here.

Regarding claims 5, 18 and 25, Fimoff '344 discloses "a video decoding device, wherein the IDCT part comprises: a horizontal reduction part for removing the DCT coefficients of the high frequency components" (i.e. figs. 9 and 17), and "frame/field converter for converting the frame DCT coded block" (i.e. fig. 10, 102) "a matrix multiplier for down sampling the field DCT" and a horizontal IDCT for carrying out IDCT in horizontal direction" (i.e. fig. 17, col. 11, lines 35+ and col. 17, lines 52 – 55).

Regarding claims 6 – 7 and 19, the mathematical equation listed in claims 6 – 7 and 19, reads on (i.e. cols. 12 - 14, equations 2, 3, 5, 6, 10 and 16).

Regarding claim 8, the limitation "8 x 16 matrix" reads on (i.e. col. 16, lines 63).

Art Unit: 2613

Regarding claim 9, 10 and 20 - 21, the limitations "up sampling part selects fields proper for the motion vectors," (i.e. fig. 15), and "half-pel interpolation with relation to the up-sampled blocks in claim 10" (i.e. fig. 15, 206).

Regarding claims 11 - 13, and 22 - 23, Fimoff '344 discloses, "a video decoding Device wherein the down-sampling part converts eight pixels into four pixels and "up-sampling in claim 12" (i.e. fig. 15, 206, col. 16, lines 35+) and "post-processing filter in claim 13" reads on (i.e. fig. 10, 108 and 110).

Regarding claims 14 and 30, Fimoff '344 discloses "an apparatus for receiving Digital Motion Pictures" (i.e. fig. 1), comprising: "a video bit stream extracting means for separating and extracting an interlaced scanning sequence video bit stream from a signal" (i.e. fig. 10), and "carrying out down-conversion of a frame DCT coded block and a field DCT coded block to a picture of a pixel structure based on only a top field (which is the same as of only one field)" reads on (col. 6, lines 6 - 18, wherein the DCT domain down-sampling performed by a down conversion decoder separately on each field block) and "if the extracted video bit stream is an interlaced sequence" interlace is a field.

Regarding claims 15 and 31, Fimoff '344 discloses, "variable length decoding" (i.e. fig. 2) and "inverse quantization" (fig. 2, 36) and "removing the DCT coefficients" (i.e. fig. 17, 304 and 312) and "8 x 4 inverse discrete cosine transform" (i.e. col. 16, 44+).

Regarding claims 16, 26 and 32, the limitations claimed are substantially similar to claim 3, therefore the grounds for rejecting claim 3 also applies here.

Art Unit: 2613

Regarding claims 27 – 29 and 33 – 35, the limitations claimed are substantially similar to claims 4 and 17, therefore the grounds for rejecting claims 4 and 17 also applies here.
